Welcome from the CME Chair

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the 34th Annual Convention of MAMCOAANA CME conference taking place on July 27- 28th 2018, in Chicago, Illinois. The conference is accredited by the University of Arizona College of Medicine - Tucson to provide 8 hours of CME. The objective of this meeting is to present advances in the field of medicine and encourage physicians to apply new knowledge and strategies that will improve patient outcome by discussing new trends and treatments. Based on your feedback, this year we have modified the program to include several new topics including living kidney donation, cardiovascular disease in autoimmune conditions, advances in management of type 2 Diabetes, imaging of necrotizing infections, immunotherapy in Lung Cancer, transcranial magnetic stimulation, stroke prevention in atrial fibrillation and PFO in addition to extremely relevant topics of obstructive sleep apnea, heart disease in pregnancy, health care in 21st century and role of physicians leading healthcare organizations to the future that every medical professional should know. Along with these outstanding didactic talks, we look forward to having several round table discussions that will give each attendee an opportunity for interactive discussion on sharing practical challenges and experiences with the experts in the field. With this in mind, I have invited a fantastic group of speakers to share their expertise and knowledge with us. The meeting will also provide a good platform for exchange of ideas and foster ties with our alma mater.

I would like to thank our President and my lifelong mentor in radiology, Dr. Vivek Mishra and his lovely wife, Dr. Sonali Shukla as well as the executive and convention committee members for planning a fantastic convention for us. I wish you a wonderful experience and an enjoyable stay in Chicago.

Sincerely yours,

Bharti Khurana

Bharti Khurana, MD (CME Chair)

PRACTICE GAP

The field of medicine is changing at a considerable pace. New science, new technology, new devices and new pharmacological agents are constantly being developed, which improve patient outcomes. Fundamental understanding of these developments is essential for the practicing physicians. The physicians attending this annual conference are from many different specialties and many specialists are not well aware of developments in fields other than their own. Update on immunotherapy in Lung Cancer, management of type 2 Diabetes, stroke prevention in atrial fibrillations and PFO, cardiovascular disease in autoimmune disease and pregnancy will address the practice gap. Imaging of necrotizing infections, living kidney donation, transcranial magnetic stimulation and management of obstructive sleep apnea will also be discussed. These new management approaches will be presented to cover this gap in our knowledge. There will be a discussion on issues relating to health care and role of physicians in leading healthcare organizations to the future. The goal of this meeting is to discuss new trends and treatments in these selected topics so that the attendees of this meeting can apply new knowledge and strategies that will improve patient outcomes.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Topics were developed from previous evaluations, faculty perception, and participant requests.

Topics of high relevance that have not been discussed in the previous meetings like stroke prevention in atrial fibrillations, management of obstructive sleep apnea, living kidney donor and immunotherapy in lung cancer will be discussed. These topics of high relevance to the practicing physicians have been selected for this meeting.
