Welcome From The CME Chair

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the organizers of the Maulana Azad Medical College Alumni Association of North America (MAMCOAANA) 2026 annual convention, we want to welcome you all to the Continuing Medical Education (CME) Conference. First of all, we want to thank Dr. Ajay Rawal, President of MAMCOAANA 2026 Convention and the entire executive committee for organizing such a wonderful convention.

Our endeavor is to bring together eminent MAMC alumni speakers and experts from all parts of the globe to talk about topics relevant to the current and future clinicians, physician leaders and researchers. Like past years, this year too, we are really lucky to have a wonderful panel of experts who will be speaking on a variety of topics. We are confident this will be appealing to a wide range of audience. We are also continuing the wonderful tradition of inviting young scientists from high schools and colleges to present their scientific research work in the form of posters during this meeting.

This year, we will also feature one keynote speaker who will speak on the evolving role of academic physicians in India. We are delighted to have all the eminent speakers amongst our alumni and we are confident that we all can benefit from their knowledge and experience.

Here is hoping for a wonderful and successful 2026 MAMCOAANA Convention and CME Conference.

Sincerely Yours

Indranil Chakraborty

ACCREDITATION/ CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of The University of Arizona College of Medicine - Tucson and Maulana Azad Medical College Alumni Association of North America (MAMCOAANA). The University of Arizona College of Medicine - Tucson is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Arizona College of Medicine – Tucson designates this live activity for a maximum of 8 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This program is intended for physicians who are alumni of MAMCOAANA who belong to various specialties of medicine including general medicine and family practice.

FORMAT

The program will consist of four-hour sessions for each day. There will be didactic lectures, followed by group discussion.

OUTCOME OBJECTIVES

1. Discuss evidence-based management guidelines for key organ sites involved by IgG4-RD
2. Assess how machine learning algorithms serve as an "AI Copilot" to identify distinctive miRNA signatures from complex genomic data for accurate prognosis
3. Integrate latest research findings into management of renal disease secondary to uncontrolled hypertension
4. Compare the vascular embolization techniques with traditional methods of management.
5. Identify the changing paradigm of treatment of lupus nephritis.
6. Elucidate recent advances in living donor liver transplantation and describe the role of minimally invasive surgical methods.
7. Utilize biologics as maintenance therapy for COPD in patients with frequent readmissions and exacerbations.
8. List the ethical use of medical AI & evaluate the organizational readiness for use of Health Care AI & its implementation.
9. Initiate management of common dialysis-related complications encountered outside the nephrology unit & apply a practical framework for the longitudinal care of dialysis patients in general medicine and outpatient settings.
10. Initiate mentorship that can be adapted to contemporary medical practice by incorporating technology, interdisciplinary learning, and personalized career pathways and to identify metrics and strategies to evaluate mentorship effectiveness, including academic output, leadership development, resilience, and long-term career satisfaction

11. Incorporate latest Ai concepts and applications in hospital medical practice while fully understanding strengths, limitations and potential biases of these tools in hospital settings.
12. Diagnose and manage a case of childhood Systemic Lupus Erythematosus (cSLE).
13. Incorporate patient specific virtual reality for surgical planning for rectal cancer surgery and trainee education and training.
14. Diagnose and manage a case of childhood adverse experience (CAE) and understand the socio-psychological impact.
15. Diagnose and manage a case of immunotherapy induced inflammatory bowel disease based on current understanding of pathophysiology and outcome research.
16. Apply the knowledge of the metrics and dynamics of nationally and publically funded healthcare systems in driving efficiency and reduce variation in pediatric ENT cases
17. Efficiently and cost-effectively diagnose commonly underreported causes of dysphagia and treat them in a timely manner.
18. List the major indications of CAR-T therapy and timely refer the appropriate patients for management based on our current understanding and evidence based research.
19. Differentiate between benign and urgent PVC conditions and their timely medical and interventional management for a better outcome.
20. Treat and manage a specific subset of patients with substance abuse disorders with glucagon-like peptide 1 receptor agonists (GLP-1RAs).
21. Implement the knowledge and skill-training gained from healthcare leadership experience in enhancing our own medical and management practices.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT

Persons with a disability may request reasonable accommodation by contacting DR. Indranil Chakraborty at chakrabortyindranil@uams.edu. Requests should be made as early as possible to allow time to arrange the accommodation.

TAX DEDUCTIBLE STATUS

Each physician should contact his/her accountant about the deductibility of this program.

Keynote Speaker Profile

Dr Narinderpal Singh

Professor N. P. Singh is a physician-academic with over four decades of experience in internal medicine, specializing in nephrology. His career has been defined by a commitment to patient care, medical education, and academic leadership. He has served in numerous teaching institutions as a clinician and & has been a mentor to generations of undergraduate and postgraduate medical students. His primary clinical and academic interests include chronic kidney disease, glomerular disorders, and transplant medicine. He is actively involved in clinical practice and research, focusing on improving patient outcomes through evidence-based approaches and interdisciplinary collaborations. His work includes various publications in peer-reviewed journals and participation in national and international academic forums.

A significant portion of his career has been dedicated to medical education. He is deeply involved in curriculum development, examination design, and modern teaching methodologies, such as problem-based learning. Recently, he has also contributed to online platforms to share clinical perspectives with a global audience of postgraduate trainees. Mentorship remains one of the most fulfilling aspects of his professional life. Guiding young physicians to foster a spirit of inquiry and compassion has been immensely rewarding, and many of his former students have established successful medical careers both in India and internationally.

In addition to his academic roles, he has held various administrative and leadership positions aimed at institutional development, faculty growth, and the promotion of academic excellence. Currently based in the United States, he continues to explore opportunities in teaching, mentoring, and medical affairs.
